COUNTY CONVENTION DECIDES THIS POINT

Democrats Given Notice that They Are Not Wanted and the Populist Dogma is Enthusiastically Endorsed.

The populist county convention met in the outh room of the county court house yesterday afternoon for the purpose of selecting delegates to the state convention at Des Moines, which meets next Wednesday. The attendance was very light, owing to the fact that nearly all of the country precincts neglected to take any notice of the call for the rimarics, which should have been held on way to the court house and took part in the convention in some way or another, but the number present was still insufficient to fill Hays of Imogene, Mullen of Missouri Valley, half of the chairs inside the railing, where Sheridan of Corning and Bulger of Shenanthe delegates were invited to sit. It had become pretty generally understood that the managers of the party had determined to that there would be no fusion. The delegates talked pretty freely while they lounged about the building prior to the calling to order of the convention, and they did not hesitate to tell the democrats whom they chanced to meet that there would be na fusion. This disgusted the democrats who had been chosen to take care of the conven-ion and they left the hall. L. Kinnehan called the convention to or-ler and stated the purpose of the meeting A. M. Hutchinson was made chairman and William Patton secretary. The regular comnittees were appointed, and after they had retired to make up their report a populist preacher named Drennan was called for and made a brief speech, in which he character-ized the populist party as the party of general salvation "for man and beast."

The committee on platform reported engthy document that seemed to meet the learty approval of the delegates, for they cheered it, paragraph by paragraph, as it was read to them. The opening sentences were a hot repudiation of the democratic party and its fusion practices. It came out unequivocally for free silver by declaring for a ratio of 16 to 1, and was equally positive in its declaration in favor of direct legislation and referendum, and instructed he delegates to the state convention vithdraw from that body if it fails to incorporate direct legislation in its platform The platform favors the purchase of a poor arm, but opposes the issuance of bonds for that purpose, declaring in favor of direct taxation to secure a sufficient amount and hus escape the payment of interest

After the platform had been approved the convention proceeded to name its delegates and selected August Sundall, C. L. Gillett, James Hatfield, A. M. Hutchinson, E. Stup-fell, L. Kinnehan, H. S. Alexander, G. W. Oakley, R. V. Churchill, George Rank, J. H Duggan, C. D. Gale, J. Dorland, E. I Brown, James Flood, J. Meginnis, N. H Bowman, John Ahles, D. F. Perry, S. V. Pratt, M. J. Kelly, J. H. turned to the Supreme Bench. There is a strong feeling throughout west ern Iowa in favor of returning Judge J. R. Reed to his former position on the supreme bench of the state. Judge Reed held the position a number of years, and displayed signal ability as a clear-headed and able turist both before and after his promotion to the office of chief justice. The sentiment of 2,400 volumes was about two-thirds de-favoring his return to the supreme bench stroyed. This collection was exceedingly originated in Council Bluffs, and the same nen whose entreaties led him to resign to accept the nomination for congress in the Ninth district are favoring the demand for his return. He was nominated for congress by the Ninth district republicans without being consulted prior to the presentation of his name in the convention. He was considered to be the only man in the district who could carry it against the democratic nominee, and when the convention nominated him by acclamation he was prac-tically forced to accept by the strongest appeals to party fealty. His warmest friends in Council Bluffs were among the most pronounced and persistent republicans, who were calling upon him to accept the nomina-tion and insure a republican representative first estimates. from the district. The duties of the supreme bench were far more congenial to him than the turmoil of a congressional life, and when he finally consented at the demand of his party, he frankly stated that it was against his wishes and desires. He made the race and brought the Ninth district back into the republican column. At the close of his term, when the condition of the district was for replacing them. The loss will not be from the district. The duties of the supreme such that it was about certain that any appreciably felt by students next year if good republican could carry it, he was appointed by the president as one of the judges of the newly organized federal court of private land claims. The duties of the office one. It is now known that but one life was take him away from his home and state, and his friends feel that he is needed on the supreme bench of lows at the present time more than the government needs him to adjudicate a lot of old claims in New Mex-

Structure Destroyed Was an Old One and Legislature Will Be Asked to Erect a Fireproof Building-No Insurance.

IOWA CITY, In., June 19 .- The sibrary uilding of the State university was struck by lightning at 4 a. m. coday and destroyed by fire. It was a two-story brick structure with the library on the second floor and the physical laboratory on the first floor. The loss is $100,000. Of this, $50,000 was in books, $17,000 in apparatus belonging to the physical laboratory and $33,000 on the building. The library was the best in the state Many of the books are out of print and cannot be replaced. The Talbot collection of 2,400 volumes was about two-thirds devaluable, many books dating from the beginning of the sixteenth century. The damage to the physical laboratory resulted largely from water. The firemen with difficulty prevented the flames from spreading to the dental building close by. Foreman dental building close by, L. M. Leek was caught in the building under a falling roof and burned to death. It is not thought any others were in the building The state carries no insurance on any pub ic buildings. The university authorities have for many years been urging the legly lature to make an appropriation for a fireproof building.

The fire has been extinguished in the library building. The loss is fully up to the first estimates. The libraries of the law, medical, dental and scientific departments

MOVING! MOVING!

When you wish to move
And have everything go smooth.
Engage a wagon, large, medium or small;
One just large enough to take it all—
Eight rooms in one load they take.
Try it, the next move you make:
Pianos, too, we move with greatest care,
And prices, you'll find, are always fair.
You'll find none so careful as those you greet,

BURNS 5 a, m. today, when Smith went to call him to breakfast. A bolt of lightning struck and killed Smith just as he entered the stable door. The same flash fired the barn and it was burned. Hickman was rossted to a crisp and two mules and three horses were also destroyed. While the barn was burning Mrs. Smith and children rushed out and pulled the body of Smith from the flames.

> Too Hot to Work. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 19.- Today is he hottest June day in years. At 11 o'clock the mercury had climbed to 9s. There have been but few prostrations, due to the fact that outdoor labor has been suspended, and little or no screet traffic had been carried on. CHARGES AGAINST MFARLAND.

Matter to He Taken Up at the Next Term of Court. DES MOINES, June 19 .- (Special Telegram.)-There is now no doubt that at the next term of the district court in this county the charges against W. M. McFarland, exsecretary of state, will be investigated. Mc-Farland is accused of extorting money from employes of the state, compelling a large number of those who worked on the state census to pay him from 20 to 30 per cent of their salaries in order to retain their positions. The matter was investigated last winter by a legislative committee and its report was to turn the evidence over to the attorney gen-Merchants Touring in New England.
